

WOMAN'S ESCORT THROWN OFF CAR BY FIVE ROWDIES

Brokers Clerk Attacked on Speeding Trolley Returning From Clason Point.

BATTLE ON "L" TRAIN.

Three of Girl's Insulters Sent to Prison After Fight
With Passengers.

Edward Lynch, twenty-five years old, a broker's clerk living at No. 7 East Eighty-fifth street, was thrown from a moving Westchester avenue surface car early this morning by five rowdies as he was returning with a young woman from Clason Point. He was picked up by Policeman O'Connell of the Morrisania station and taken in an ambulance to Fort Hamilton Hospital. Dr. Denahue found Lynch suffering from a contusion of the left eye and internal injuries. Later it was reported that his condition was not serious. The rowdies escaped and the young woman left for her home before her identity was learned. Detectives Meyer and Clark of the Morrisania station are searching for the rowdies.

Lynch says he and the young woman had just boarded the car, an open one and crowded. They were compelled to sit apart. The car had gone only a few blocks when five young men crowded in between the seats and began acting in a boisterous manner. They addressed remarks to the young woman and to Lynch, who for a time ignored them. At length one of the youths leered in his face and asked:

"Why don't you make a seat for your lady friend?"

Lynch retorted, and a moment later he was seized by the youths and dragged to the running board of the car. Several passengers screamed, as the car was running at a high rate of speed. The cries of the passengers were heard by the motorman, but before the speed was checked the youths had torn Lynch's grip loose and threw him from the car at Westchester avenue, near the Westchester Bridge. The patrolman who picked him up left him in the care of several passengers, while he pursued the five young men, but they eluded him.

THREE OF GIRL'S INSULTERS SENT TO PRISON.

The story told in the Night Court early to-day by pretty nineteen-year-old Esther Winkler of No. 61 East Broadway caused three men to be sent to the Workhouse for five days by Magistrate Krotel. The prisoners gave their names as James Turpin, No. 214 Elizabeth street; Alphonso Moran, No. 40 Thompson street; and Dominick Dante, No. 44 West Seventeenth street.

Miss Winkler boarded a southbound Third Avenue elevated train at the Ninety-ninth street station about 11 o'clock last night. The train was crowded and she had to walk to the rear of the train to find a seat.

Several youths in the car began making remarks of a flattering nature, which nettled her. None of the other men in the car cared to take up her cause against the rowdies. When a man sitting next to her left at Sixty-sixth street one of the toughs flopped down in the seat beside her and tried to talk to her.

She then appealed to other men, which only caused her tormentors to laugh. She called on the guard, who came and told the men to hold their tongues and get out. Finally, becoming afraid, she started for the door, but two men pushed her back into the seat and one jammed her hat down over her head. Three men who had taken no part in the trouble then arose and ordered the girl to get up, who started a general fight.

The combatants battled up and down the car, falling upon seated women and raising to strike out with their fists. At length the guard realized the seriousness of the affair and pulled the emergency whistle. The train had just pulled into the Sixty-seventh street station and the motorman came back to help two guards quell the disturbance.

The railroad employees failing, the whistle was pulled three times as a signal to the police. Capt. McNally was standing on the steps of the East Sixty-seventh street police station, and he and the motorman came back to help two guards quell the disturbance.

Fighting their way through the car with their clubs, they succeeded in stopping all pugilistic show. Esther jumped up when the policemen came into the car and picked out three of the men who, she said, were responsible for the trouble.

Traffic Kills Driver, Picks Up Horse.

RED BANK, July 24.—John Sloan, twenty-two years old, was killed early to-day when a freight engine and caboose struck a milk wagon which he was driving at Little Silver station of the New York and Long Branch Railroad. The horse was carried 300 yards on the engine's pilot.

FELL FOUR STORIES, WALKED BACK UPSTAIRS.

Ramoppo Then Lit His Pipe and Remarked That Sleep Walking
Was Dangerous.

After falling from the fourth door to the concrete courtyard early to-day, John Ramoppo, sixty-four years old, of No. 181 Heister street, walked back upstairs, lit his pipe, and said sleep walking was a dangerous habit for a man of his age.

Ramoppo lives in three rooms with his family of nine. He is healthy and hardy, and at night sleeps with his head against the open window. He often walks in his sleep, but never before did he succeed in walking out the window. His son, Joe, heard him cry out early this morning and found him in the courtyard. Dr. Bigelow replaced a dislocated shoulder and said Ramoppo might have internal injuries and should go to Gouverneur Hospital, but Ramoppo insisted on going back to his room, where he lit his pipe and said he thought he had enough sleep for the night. He fell about thirty-five feet.

Killed Thirties With a Brick.
Struck on the head with a brick thrown by James Trakakes, a waiter, who had chased him several blocks after he had robbed a cash drawer of a restaurant on Market street, an unidentified man died in St. James Hospital, Newark, N. J., yesterday afternoon, a few minutes after he had been admitted.

"COMPANION"

Sales of

"EVERYTHING

for the Home"

Today's enthusiastic throngs stamp the opening of this great event as SUPERLATIVELY SUCCESSFUL!

Even in yesterday's WHOLE PAGE of MONEY-SAVING items it was impossible to do justice to this "Greater" Furniture Sale—here alone its "COMPANION" sales in BOTH our mammoth buildings.

The AVERAGE saving to every purchaser is estimated at about ONE-THIRD of the usual retail prices! Some reductions are greater, some not so large.

The imagination can scarcely GRASP what this means in MULTIPLYING ECONOMIES by applying the saving on ONE article to the purchase of ANOTHER.

For tomorrow there will be parlor suites, dining and bedroom furniture, brass and enameled bedsteads, easy chairs, fancy chairs, rockers, hall racks, mirrors, etc.—over twenty thousand pieces of furniture and each piece (except sectional bookcases) bearing a green midsummer reduction tag of 10 to 50 per cent. less than our usual low prices!
